AN OHIO TAMMANY

Representative Whitacre, Democratic congressman, from Ohio, is regarded with suspicion as well as fear by the friends of Gov. (Czar) Cox of Ohio. Senator Pomerene is said to have interested himself in behalf of Gov. Cox and interviewed him after which Mr. Whitacre gave out the following statement:

"I do not believe that the people of Ohio realize what is being fostered by Governor Cox, but it is easy to see the intention to create in Ohio another Tammany."

"The governor showed it in his speech at the Jackson banquet in Toledo. He came out strongly against conventions and advocated popular primaries for everything, but in connection with the tax assessors and commissioners, the liquor commissioners and the others his attitude was: 'I will appoint these. You can nominate your state and national officers, but I will do the appointing of the political machinery.'"

"The people have only to look over into the state of New York to see what happens when a political machine becomes entrenched in power. The Cox machine has not yet reached the smooth running characteristic of Tammany; that will come later. The people look over into New York and they see graft connected with the $100,000,000 road contracts. That graft is traced to Tammany. I wonder what will happen when the Cox machine gets $10,000,000 to spend on Ohio's roads."

"If the power of the machine Mr. Cox is building continues to grow, it will not be long before it is supreme in the state. No Tammany Democrat can come to congress unless he gets the consent of the organization. It soon will be the way in Ohio. People tell me that in endeavoring to drive the swine from the Ohio Democratic temple I am liable to pull down the temple. That is not the way it will happen. The hogs can be driven out and the temple cleansed. The Ohio Democratic party, if it hopes to win next fall, must scourge itself in this primary fight for the governorship and come before the people with clean hands and a repentant spirit."

FIREMEN RECOGNIZED.

A very commendable act of the Council, which should have the hearty approval of every citizen of the village, was that in which the Council voted an appropriation of $100 for the purpose of refitting the room used by the fire department.

The department deserve every favor that can be shown them by the Council and the citizens, as they are among the most energetic and willing workers in the village at the times and under circumstances which make their services of great value.

PRESENTED WITH WATCH

Citizens Bank Honors Retiring Cashier With Valuable Gift.

The Directors meeting of the Citizens Banking company held at the bank on Tuesday afternoon was made the time and the place for an event that marked the closing of the official career of Mr. Hanson as Cashier of the bank and the manifestation of the high esteem in which his business associates regarded him, by the presentation to him of a beautiful and valuable gold watch, with a fob bearing a masonic emblem.

Mr. Davis, the retiring President, manifested much pleasure when he exhibited the gift to the Journal, and his eyes gleamed with kindness when he exclaimed, "It's the best we could buy in the city, and it's none too good for him." The watch is a Swiss movement of the highest grade, a beautiful case, the inside of which bears the inscription, "To Norman L. Hanson, from The Citizens Bank, for Faithful Service, Feb. 3, 1914."

Mr. Davis made the presentation speech which was brief but contained the true spirit of sincere good will for the faithful associate whose services had always been worthy and acceptable. Mr. Hanson, with deep feeling, accepted the gift with a few words which indicated that the evidence of good will of the Directors as shown by the gift was truly appreciated.

It was then that he took occasion to fulfill the duty assigned him by the Directors to present to Mr. Davis, the retiring President, a pair of beautiful silver candlesticks, the compliments of his business associates, in recognition of his long years of services as President of the Banking company. Mr. Davis expressed his appreciation of the gift. These two events marked a most pleasant meeting wherein the evidence of good will shown for those who were retiring from long service was such as to give them cheer and courage on their journey through life.

DEATH OF JOHN B. WEBB.

Word was received here on Monday afternoon announcing the death of John B. Webb of Toledo, which occurred at his late residence at 2 p. m., Monday at the age of 81 years.

Mr. Webb had been in poor health for several months, and his death was not unexpected.

For many years he resided in Perrysburg, but the latter years of his life had been spent in Toledo, where for many years he was engineer at the Wabash elevators.

His funeral was conducted at his late residence on Wednesday afternoon by Phoenix lodge F. & A. M. of Perrysburg, of which lodge he had been a member for many years. The remains were brought to Perrysburg and placed at rest in the beautiful modern Mausoleum in Ft. Meigs cemetery, in Perrysburg.

The family consisted of five children. Kizzie, now deceased; Emma residing in Toledo; Lulu (Mrs. Hall) residing in Cleveland; Mable (Mrs. Laycock) residing in Toledo; and Andrew Webb also a resident of Toledo. Besides these children, he is survived by his wife, residing with her daughter, Mrs. Laycock, where they have made their home for some years past.

Many friends here mourn the death of a good man.

DON'T USE SAME TRACK

Commissioners Request Teamsters to Avoid Driving in Same Track.

One of the most sensible measures ever adopted by the County Commissioners is that in which they request teamsters to avoid using same track, or "following." The request is made for the purpose of avoiding "rutting" the stone roads and has been advocated by the Journal for several years. They would have done better if they had also requested that all people using stone roads should drive on the right side of the road as much as possible. A careful study of this rule will convince any driver that it will do much to avoid danger and to perpetuate a good roadway.

TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER

Seven Hundred Sparrows Killed by the Hunters.

"Ground Hog Day" opened bright and clear and the many hunters who were engaged in the Civic association sparrow hunt were up early and the shooting was fierce and furious.

A. J. Witzler and G. Fred Hoffman had been selected as Captains of the two companies, and those two husky men certainly went into the sport with the spirit of youth.

The birds were counted Tuesday evening at the Council room, and the total number brought in (and guaranteed to have been shot) were 700.

Of course George Schwind of Roachton was very busy Monday and Tuesday receiving orders from various hunters regarding the number of birds they wished sent in for the count, and it is said that a young man from Lima City violated the proclamation of Mayor Rider of that city, and brought in a bag full of birds which were placed in cold storage in the Fifth ward and Wm. Adamson had a peculiar look upon his face when he drove in from Roachton just before the count.

However, neither of the Captains regarded it as safe to accuse the other of violation of rules, and the count was not contested. It was the rivalry of good fellowship and everything was approved.

President Pew acted as chairman of the meeting and called on several members for remarks and the responses were generous and produced much merriment.

A pleasant feature of the programme was the music by the orchestra.

Tom Franey presented an owl as his trophy of the hunt, and claimed a count of 12 birds, making the statement that he had had 12 birds shut up in his barn awaiting the slaughter but that the owl got into the barn and had eaten the birds hence his right to the count of 12. Tom told the story so well that the committee decided to have the owl embalmed and preserved as a relic of the hunt.

The banquet was given at the W. O. W. hall where the ladies of the Woodmen circle had accepted a commission to prepare and serve the supper. It was some supper, all right, and those good women certainly did themselves proud and the hungry hunters as well as those who were hungry but not hunters, (being buyers and trappers) a supper that was worthy the occasion and the assembly.

One of Kingsbury's sparrows was full of hops.

Captain Hoffman's company won the contest.

BEES IN THE ORCHARD

Great Benefit to Fruit Growing While Making Honey.

Estimates, based on reliable data, show that bees in the United States produce $25,000,000 worth of honey and beeswax annually. This amount, if loaded on 40 foot freight-cars holding 30,000 pounds each, would make a solid train 50 miles long. From these figures it can be seen that the little bee furnishes the people of this country with an enormous amount of valuable food. However, producing honey and beeswax is not the only function of the bee. The greatest economic value of the bee comes from the part that it plays in the pollination of the fruit trees and certain farm crops. Orchardists are especially cognizant of this important factor and many believe that the best crop of apples would be an impossibility without the aid of the bee in helping to distribute the pollen. Two orchardists by the name of Van Rensselaer and Southam leased an old orchard of fifty acres near Cleveland, Ohio. Before they took charge the orchard had yielded almost no return to the owner. Not only did the lessees begin to prune and spray but they had more than 50 colonies of bees put into the orchard, as it was their belief that they could not grow fruit to advantage without bees. In the fall of 1913 they harvested 16,000 bushels of apples. The bees they said, played no small part in producing that excellent crop. Many other more experiences have shown the bee to be responsible for better crops of seed from farm crops. It is for the part it plays in the pollination of fruits and farm crops that the bee is valued at many times its worth as a producer of honey and beeswax.

PASSING OF MRS. ELY.

A copy of the Olivet, (Mich.) Optic contains the following notice of the death of Mrs. E. N. Ely of that village: Mrs. Edwin N. Ely died about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon at her home in this village after several years of failing health and seven months of illness. She had been a resident of Olivet for 60 years and was 80 years old.

Mrs. Ely, whose maiden name was Sophia Barlow, was born in Ohio in 1827, of New England stock.

She came to Olivet to study for a short time in the Olivet Institute. In 1853 she returned to Olivet as the wife of Edwin N. Ely. The atmosphere of Olivet was congenial to her. She had a deep interest and quiet part in the life of the village, college, and church. Into their home Mr. and Mrs. Ely welcomed three children, a son and two daughters, one daughter dying in infancy. The son George Melvin passed away in 1899. In 1909 Mr. Ely departed this life. Mrs. Ely is survived by one sister, a daughter and four granddaughters.

Many of the older residents will remember the Barlow family, former residents of Perrysburg. The family consisted of Sophia (Mrs. Ely) Mary, Melvin, Bradford Barlow, and father and mother, who were residents of Perrysburg fifty years ago.

As an evidence of her activity and interest in public affairs, Mrs. Ely when in her 82d year, presented to the editor of the Journal a beautiful American flag, which she had made of silk ribbon, and which is treasured as a patriotic gift from a lady whose life was devoted to deeds of love and kindness.

SOME OBSERVATIONS

Concerning Nothing Very Serious But Worthy of Thought.

In the belief that the club is better than the gun, Toledo policemen will hereafter carry the customary police club. To knock out a criminal with a blow on his coco is much better than a blow to the jaw from the big fist or a bullet from a revolver. It is quite probable some of the sentimentalists will now enjoy the usual number of sentimental spasms, but the policeman will know that he not only has a better chance to enforce the law and protect himself while so doing, but will not be afraid of killing those whom he may find it necessary to subdue. Criminals have no respect for white gloves.

And now it is learned that the incubator used for hatching chickens is of ancient origin, and that the Egyptians incubated chickens to the number of $120,000,000 a year and used incubators calculated to hold as many as 7,000 eggs. Thus it is learned that we are about 50 centuries behind the Egyptians, notwithstanding the fact that we are having poultry shows in all parts of the country and have long considered ourselves to be the most wise and progressive people on earth.

"Don't touch my arm" is the slogan adopted by the advocates of vaccination.

A friend gives us a copy of a letter received by a physician who recently advised one of his patients to go to Colorado for his health. Here is the letter:

"Dear Doctor: Arrived here all its last nite and feel some improved, although there seems to be a good deal of sickness here from what I hear. Pewmomy seems to be the fatal death, but not if broke up in time. The air is all right here and it is so clear they say they can see a ralerode train at a distance of fifty miles, which shows there are liars here as elsewhere. Living is so high poor folks mife as well be dead anyhow. Still, I mean to hang on if I can. Never say dye is my Mottee. Butter is forty cents a pound here, eggs the same price. Meat is high, and you almost have to pay to even look at real nice frute. I was told I would have some trouble in getting my wind here until I got youst to it but I ain't so far. Still it will take more than wind to make me well. But I live in hopes and as,

"Your friend and wellwisher,
"D. J. BLANK."

The big head lines of the city papers read—"Huerta's life said to be endangered." This sounds as though there might be some real unkind thoughts in the minds of some of the patriots of Mexico.

A headline in the Sentinel reads: "Benefit for Public School Lantern Fund." Wonder what that means? Can it be that there is need of "Light" in the B. G. schools?

Lovers of dancing now claim the tango is not so naughty as the one step. That settles it, and the tango will soon go.
